Our Holiday deadline for the Wednesday, December 26th issue is FRIDAY, DECEMBER 21st. Please have all News and Ad Copy submitted to our offices no later than 4:00 PM on Friday the 21st.

Torit Montessori launches 'Farmers to You' market

Special to the Times

Torit Montessori is transforming its school lunch and snacks through local farm partnerships and in-house cooking, and is thrilled to announce a partnership with "Farmers to You," a year-round online farmers' market which delivers (by bicycle!) fresh, local, and organic produce, pasture-raised meats, and artisan cheese and other goodies to Torit's Cambridge Street kitchen.

Torit also sources food from Stillman Meats, Valicenti Pasta and Red's Seafood. All of these local producers appear at local farmers markets around Massachusetts, including Copley Square and the Boston Public Market.

"This wonderful partnership with local farmers and producers is the culmination of years of planning and collaboration leading to the build-out and launch of our own commercial-grade kitchen," said Kristen Mansharamani, executive head of school. "Cooking and serving our own hot lunches using allergy-free, organic and locally sourced foods, including supplemental groceries from Whole Foods, was a goal of mine since Torit's founding. I hope this can serve as a model for school lunch, because the right nutritional balance is inherently related to both academics and general student success."

Renee Chan, mother of both an elementary and a preschool student at Torit, enthusiastically embraced the partnership, and carefully worked out menu options with input from teachers, students, staff and our in-house chef, Kelli McKoy of First Bite Catering. As a bonus, fourth-graders put their journalism skills to work, researching the farms and interviewing

BEACON HILL CIVIC ASSOCIATION COMMUNITY CORNER

Remember to Bring a Tote Bag!

After years of debate, Boston's plastic bag ban has arrived. On Friday, Dec. 14, Boston joined more than 87 other Massachusetts cities and towns in limiting the use of disposable plastic bags. As we try to get used to this change, we can feel good knowing that we are helping to limit the damage these thin bags do to our waterways, trash and sewage systems, and wildlife and human health.

The new rules prevent the use of the thin, plastic bags with carry handles, such as in a grocery store or takeout order. Instead, retailers must offer paper bags (with at least 40-percent recycled paper), compostable bags, or reusable thicker plastic bags, and they must charge at least 5 cents for each.

The rules are being phased in with the largest retailers beginning Dec. 14, mid-size stores beginning April 1, 2019, and the smallest businesses coming last on July 1, 2019. (There are a few exemptions that you can learn more about at <https://www.boston.gov/departments/environment/reducing-plastic-bags-city-boston>.)

The 'bag ban' does not include plastic newspaper bags, plastic wrapping on food, dry cleaning bags or trash bags. It also does not include dog waste disposal bags, although dog owners can be friends to the environment by choosing to buy biodegradable waste bags (readily available at Amazon and other pet supply stores).

We are encouraged to see Boston trying to limit single use plastics and hope this effort leads to healthier outcomes in our neighborhood and our city.

Please stop by the BHCA office at 74 Joy St. to pick up a reusable bag!

ENJOY THE HOLIDAY SEASON

This is a wonderful time of the year, to paraphrase the song, with holiday music playing in the malls and on our car radios, resurrecting our earliest childhood memories -- even for the younger set -- of Christmases-past.

We choose just the right tree, decorate it carefully with our family-heirloom ornaments, and when we first turn on the lights, it brings a smile even to the oldest among us.

Despite the hectic rushing to and fro, everybody it seems, is in a good mood. We endure the traffic, the long lines in stores, and more, because we know that what we are doing will bring joy and happiness to others.

For those of us with young children, we get to see Christmas through their eyes, giving us a second-chance to experience the wonder and joy that we felt when we were their age.

Although all of us celebrate Christmas in our own way, the common thread is one of peace, joy, and happiness, regardless of religious or secular beliefs. Whether it be Christmas, Hanukkah, Kwanzaa, or a Seinfeldian Festivus, the spirit of the season imbues us with a sense of togetherness that (unfortunately) only comes once a year.

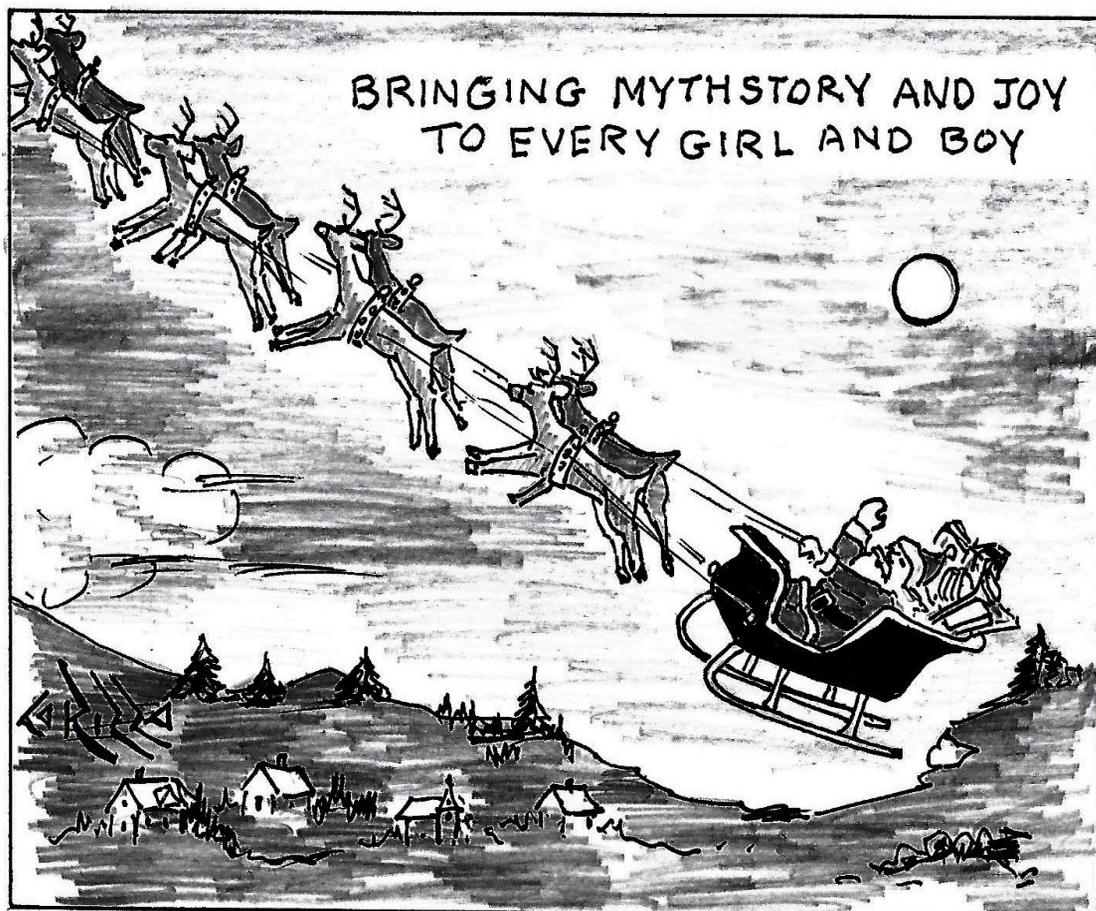

We wish all of our readers a happy holiday season.

ENJOY THE HOLIDAYS -- SAFELY

Christmas this year is part of what for many people will be a four-day weekend, which means that for many of us, we will be indulging in the "Christmas spirit" early and often.

By no means do we wish to cast negative thoughts, but we would be remiss if we did not remind all of our readers to enjoy the holiday weekend safely. This especially means that we should be careful not to drink and drive, not only as to ourselves, but also as to those whom we know and love.

If someone appears to be under the influence, it is incumbent upon all of us not to let that person get behind the wheel of a car. Call an Uber if you have to -- if it is within our ability to prevent a tragedy, we must be sure to do so.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

GUEST OP-ED

Reducing disposable bags in Boston

By Martin J. Walsh

The City of Boston's new plastic bag ordinance is a big step forward in our work to cut carbon emissions, reduce pollution, and create a cleaner, greener city. When the new ordinance goes into effect on Dec. 14, 2018, stores in Boston will no longer provide plastic checkout bags to customers. Ahead of the change, we're making sure everyone has the information they need. We are answering questions and distributing reusable bags and signage throughout neighborhoods and main streets. And we're asking you to help by reminding neighbors and friends to bring a reusable bag when shopping in the city.

Here's why we're encouraging everyone to switch to reusable bags: It's an opportunity to be good environmental stewards and responsible neighbors. Single-use plastic bags have a big impact on the environment. Plastic bags often end up in our streets and gutters, vacant lots, and trees. They're harmful to our marine life and pollute our waterways. You can use reusable bags time and time again without tossing them in the trash, which helps to reduce waste and carbon pollution. As a city committed to being carbon free and moving toward zero waste, this is a big step in the right direction.

So, how will you carry your groceries home? Moving forward, stores will provide recyclable paper, compostable, or reusable bags to customers, starting at 5 cents per bag. This charge goes back to the businesses to help them cover the cost of new sustainable checkout bags. As a customer, you can avoid the charge by remembering to bring a reusable bag whenever you shop. Businesses will be able to use their existing inventory of plastic bags by applying for an exemption to the City's Inspectional Services Department.

Switching to reusable bags is an important milestone, but it's just one of the ways that you can help reduce waste. You can also use the City's trash app. It allows you to check which materials are recyclable, and reminds you of your collection schedule, which means you may never miss your recycling or yard waste pick up day again. You can learn more about upcoming hazardous waste drop-off days and composting in the city at boston.gov/trash-and-recycling-guide.

As a sustainable city, we're committed to reducing our waste and the carbon pollution that causes climate change. We're exploring ways to support waste reduction as well as increase opportunities for repair, reuse, recycling, composting and remanufacturing. Switching to reusable bags gets us closer to that goal. I'm proud of our progress and I know there's much more work to be done -- but first, let's all remember to bring our reusable bags this holiday season and remind our neighbors to do the same.

Our Office of Neighborhood Services will be distributing reusable bags to residents, and bags will also be available for pick up at Boston Centers for Youth & Families (BCYF) locations. Businesses and residents can learn more about the City's plastic bag ordinance at boston.gov/plastic-bags or by calling 311, our constituent hotline. For more information on our Climate Action Plan, please visit boston.gov/environment.

MASSACHUSETTS GENERAL HOSPITAL CANCER CENTER RESEARCH FUNDRAISER

On Monday, Dec. 3, the Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center raised nearly $5 million for cancer research and care at its new signature event, CenterStage, at the Museum of Fine Arts. The funds raised will advance innovative new treatments that have the potential to transform cancer care.

Co-chaired by Jack Connors, Jr., Philip Schiller and Sam Slater, CenterStage celebrated progress in the fight against cancer and honored the incredible team at the MGH Cancer Center, which is among the leading cancer care providers in the country.

Produced by Rafanelli Events, the event welcomed 325 guests with cocktails in the William I. Koch Gallery before moving into the Ruth and Carl J. Shapiro Family Courtyard for a seated dinner and speaking program with Daniel A. Haber, MD, PhD, Director, Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center, and David

P. Ryan, MD, Clinical Director, Massachusetts General Hospital Cancer Center/Chief, Division of Hematology/Oncology.

Dr. Haber passionately addressed guests, saying that through their support, they are “helping to advance and accelerate the development and delivery of personalized cancer medicine, early-detection technologies and innovative supportive care that will impact patients here at Mass General and around the world.”

After dessert, special musical guest, Boyz II Men, took to the stage and brought the crowd to their feet with a high energy concert of their greatest hits.

CITY PAWS

Kudos for dog communities!

By Penny & Ed Cherubino

Imagine yourself walking across the Boston Common just after dark. You spot a hulking figure in a sweatshirt with a hood hiding his face. He's lingering on the path ahead of you. Your city senses begin to tingle and you look around to see just how alone you are. Suddenly a beautiful chocolate Lab runs up to the figure and deposits a ball at his feet and you breathe a sigh of relief.

People with dogs bring activity and added security to our sidewalks and parks all year long, at all hours, and in all weather conditions. That hulking figure may have been making use of the Boston Common Off-Leash Dog Program. The Friends of the Public Garden who initiated the program in 2013 describe it as, "... the first approved off-leash area in a city park that does not fence off and designate a single-use restricted space in this historically open park of shared use."

Since the hours for use of the space are 6 a.m. to 11 p.m., those using the area do add to the number of neighbors around during the dark early morning and evening hours this time of year. In fact, that hulking figure may never have caught your attention because you may have felt secure walking by a group of people chatting and playing with their dogs.

Introductions

We live in a large, dog friendly building. Often we are among the first to meet new neighbors with dogs. Our pets are the perfect reason to introduce ourselves and, once we know the new family, we can introduce them to dogless neighbors.

Beyond our building, we meet many neighbors and engage with them because of a connection we made via dogs. A neighbor walking the dog because his partner was sick once said to us, "No wonder Michael knows everyone and I don't. He walks Jewels."

Neighborhood Stewards

As a group, dog walkers spend a lot of time out and about and may notice things that other neighbors miss or ignore. This makes them excellent stewards of our neighborhoods.

In Boston, anyone with the 311 app on their phone can quickly report anything from trash left out at the wrong time or in the wrong place, to dangerous dangling tree branches.

We were among a group of dog families who attended an instructional meeting on how to spot and report any suspicion of Long

People with dogs bring activity and added security to our sidewalks and parks all year long, at all hours, and in all weather conditions.

Horned Asian Beetles in our area trees. Many dog walkers have taken the time to learn about the symptoms of Dutch Elm disease and can report sightings.

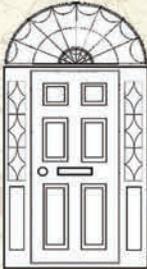

Since we have bags in hand, you will often see someone with a dog picking up not only after their own dog, but also after a scofflaw who failed to pick up. Some dog walkers carry an extra bag and pick up litter left by other park users.

We have often referred to members of the dog community as an informal but key crime watch team. We know what is normal and not normal on our blocks. Criminals tend to ignore us so we can report the person walking down the street checking car doors to see if one is unlocked, or someone stealing packages off front stairways.

Kudos to all those out and about with dogs who add far more value to our neighborhoods than the few people who don't pick up or don't control their dogs, take away.

Do you have a question or topic for City Paws. Send an email to Penny@BostonZest.com with your request.

Local residents needed to drive cancer patients to and from treatment

The American Cancer Society is in great need of Road to Recovery volunteers to drive local cancer patients to and from their chemotherapy and/or radiation treatments. An integral part of treating cancer successfully is making sure cancer patients receive their treatments, but many find making transportation arrangements is a challenge. Make a difference in the fight against cancer by becoming a volunteer driver for the American Cancer Society's Road to Recovery. Drivers use their own vehicle to drive patients to and from their treatments. The schedule for volunteers is flexible, and treatment appointments take place weekdays, primarily during business hours. Local residents embark on undergraduate careers at Tufts University

Local students joined more than 1,500 undergraduate students from around the world as they begin their academic careers at Tufts University, located in Medford/Somerville, Massachusetts.

The university's Class of 2022 includes:

Anya Tisdale, Beacon Hill

Eoghan Downey, Beacon Hill

In all, only 14.6 percent of a record breaking 21,501 applicants were admitted to the university, the second-lowest acceptance rate in university history.

The university's Class of 2022 is the most diverse class ever, the beneficiary of the largest commitment of financial aid in university history, and a trailblazer in gender parity among engineering students - all while maintaining Tufts' status as one of the most selective universities in the country.

Thirty-seven percent of first-year U.S. undergraduates identify as students of color, a Tufts record. The 1,544-member undergraduate class received $25.8 million in need-based grants, a new mark for financial aid commitment by the university. And the incoming engineering class nearly reached gender parity, with 49 percent of students identifying as women.

"We often talk about creating an intentional community," said Karen Richardson, dean of admissions and enrollment management at the Class of 2022's matriculation ceremony. "With the Class of 2022, we have put together a group of learners who will contribute not only academically but also to our community's social fabric."

Tufts University, located on campuses in Boston, Medford/Somerville and Grafton, Massachusetts, and in Talloires, France, is recognized among the premier research universities in the United States. Tufts enjoys a global reputation for academic excellence and for the preparation of students as leaders in a wide range of professions. A growing number of innovative teaching and research initiatives span all Tufts campuses, and collaboration among the faculty and students in the undergraduate, graduate and professional programs across the university's schools is widely encouraged.

Sara Campbell clothing store showcase Eleanor Score's artwork

By Dan Murphy

Eleanor Score recently stopped by the Sara Campbell to buy a pair of cashmere gloves, but left with an invitation to showcase her artwork last Thursday, Dec. 13, at the women's clothing store at 84 Chestnut St.

Score, longtime Beacon Hill resident and wife of antiques dealer Stephen Score, cites the French Impressionists and Matisse and Raul Dufy as her biggest influences for the large oil paintings she created in Provincetown, as well as smaller oil paintings depicting the Public Garden and "treasured objects from [her] new garret on Lime Street." The exhibit also featured some of Score's collage paintings on old worm board featuring images of an angel and a sailboat.

"It was a glorious extended summer by the water so you'll see seagulls, sunrises over the harbor, fishing boats, a mermaid even," Score wrote, "It is such an important thing for an artist to share her vision. I really am not satisfied just to see God's beauty. I have to paint it, try to capture it somehow as best I can."

Kate Fini, the store's manager, said hosting an art exhibit was a first for Sara Campbell.

"We're so excited because this is our first event with a local artist," Fini said. "It's kind of our first cultural event within the Beacon Hill community."

Meanwhile, longtime Beacon Hill resident Richard Perkins played piano for the occasion.
